Mr. William Green, President
American Federation of Labor Headquarters
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:

The following is a resolution which was adopted at our General Membership Meeting of March 4, 1947: (Motion carried)

"Whereas, the vicious anti-labor legislation now pending in the State Legislature and the National Congress is pointed to destroying the democratic principles which labor protects and defends for the whole of America, and

Whereas, the Wagner Act is the Magna Carta of the labor movement and amendments thereto would destroy labor's gains for the past 50 years, and

Whereas, the proposed emasculation of the N.L.R.B. would abolish labor's right to organize and bargain collectively.

Therefore, be it resolved, that the O.E.I.U., Local No. 174 in order to more effectively offset and combat these unwarranted attacks on labor unites with all office and professional workers of the Los Angeles area in support of the Executive Council of the A.F. of L. in its strong denunciation of the fight against this legislation, and

Be it further resolved, that copies of this resolution be sent to William Green, President of the A.F. of L., Governor Earl Warren and our local representatives in the State Legislature, President Truman, Senators William Knowland and Sheridan Downey, and the Senate Labor Committee".

Respectfully yours,

THE LABOR MANAGEMENT ARBITRATION LETTER

Published at Arbitration Headquarters, 9 Rockefeller Plaza, New York 20
by American Arbitration Association.

Number 3 Reading Time 6 Minutes February - March 1947

"PIPER CALLS FOR PAY"

All labor and all management must now commence to "pay the piper" for the tune he has been called to play by those few in both groups whose hunger for power is greater than their logic. It has been evident for years that voluntary methods of arbitrating the settlement of industrial disputes worked - and worked well - when both groups set their minds and hearts to the job. It has been equally clear that if their example in the use of voluntary arbitration were not followed - especially by those who run corporations and labor unions in key industries - the public would "call the cop" and try to bring peace by force.

The railway strike cocked the gun. The coal strike pulled the trigger. State legislatures and the Congress are going great guns. Scores of bills have been poured into the legislative hoppers.

The State legislatures are also generally in session. And out of their hoppers commence to come the pay-off for the piper of indifference, neglect and repudiation of the voluntary arbitrations which have characterized too many of the reconversion disputes.

These are obviously aimed mainly at John L. Lewis and stem clearly from public resentment of his complete repudiation of arbitration.

But the roots of the present situation lie deeper than the acts of any one man. They grow out of a fundamental question which both labor and management must resolve together. That question is:

> Can we work out together a mutually satisfactory voluntary method for determining what is just and equitable when our respective interests seem to clash, or > do we prefer a government bureau to settle these disputes by "compulsory arbitration" and inevitably assume the corollary power to write our contracts for us?

The two functions are Siamese twins. Take one and you get the other willy nilly. Regrettable though it will be, the innocent will suffer along with the guilty if even a few powerful groups pursue a course of action that leads the country's lawmakers to the conclusion that labor-management relations are beyond self-regulation by the parties through the mutual use of voluntary arbitration.

RECEIVED MAR 28 1947

C.E.D. and OTHER DIVIDED COUNSEL

No responsible spokesman among those who "know the score" in labor-management relations has come out flatly for compulsory arbitration. Most have evoked antagonism toward any such obvious death knell to free collective bargaining.

But hiding behind many proposals for legislation - and in not a few of the actual bills - are thinly disguised compulsory arbitration recipes.

In the publicity release of February 24, 1947, the Committee for Economic Development announces the report of its Research and Policy Committee. At one point the Committee says: "The Committee rejects, as unsound, proposals for compulsory arbitration and super-boards." At another: "It is recommended that legislation be enacted to require all employers and unions who are parties to collective bargaining contracts to incorporate in their agreements a procedure, ending in arbitration, to settle claims of contract violation by the unions and employers as well as by the employer." (The underlining is mine)

It may appear ungracious to challenge a recommendation to compel something which AAA itself recommends that management and labor do for their mutual advantage. But the essential difference is that the committee would make it compulsory. AAA believes that you can't introduce compulsion without evicting true arbitration, which depends upon the voluntary acceptance of the procedure.

Paul G. Hoffman, Chairman of the CED accompanied the statement with the following disclaimer:

> " - - - the statement is the responsibility of the CED research and policy committee and not of the Board of Trustees or the research staff - - - ."

It would be interesting and helpful if the board and staff were to present their views. One is left now with a regrettable ambiguity in the statement of this influential group.

U.S. CHAMBER OF COMMERCE REFRESHINGLY EXPLICIT

The Chamber deals with the question unequivocally, and recently made public its stand on labor issues with the backing of its full National Board of Directors. Under date of January 31, 1947 it came out flatly as opposed "to the establishment of a federal mediation board", and "for voluntary arbitration and against the setting up of government machinery to handle arbitration - - -."

NAM MAKES ITS POSITION EQUALLY CLEAR

In its statement of principles, approved by the Board of Directors December 3, 1946, it says: "Compulsory arbitration, in particular, is inconsistent with American ideals of individual freedom, and is bound to destroy collective bargaining."

AFL - CIO and INDEPENDENT UNIONS ALL AGREE ON ONE POINT

They all abhor the thought of compulsory arbitration. The solid front of labor and the almost solid front of management should give the most naive and uninformed legislator "cause for pause" and sober second thought before consigning free collective bargaining to the ash-heap.

> On free collective bargaining hangs the whole future of mature, peaceful, just and productive cooperation between healthy and responsible unionism and progressive management. We can't indict our whole nation in order to jail a few criminals.
> Nor should we destroy individual responsibility for sound labor relations in order to restrain a few "irresponsibles" in high places among unions and management.

ASSOCIATION PROGRESS

1947 marks the beginning of the second decade of maintaining special Voluntary Labor Arbitration Tribunals in AAA. Prior to 1937 labor cases were handled by the same technical personnel as commercial cases. Growth has been phenomenal. In 1946 as many labor grievances were arbitrated as in the first 5 years of AAA. January and February indicate that 1947 will far exceed 1946 in the use that unions and employers will make of the nation wide facilities afforded them by AAA. In flexibility, economy and competence these facilities are exceptional. In industry after industry the major companies and unions are finding through experience that AAA Rules are a major protection against abuse, delays and excessive costs. They find that arbitrators selected from AAA panels render the highest type of impartial service with the "know-how" to make awards that are clear, just, and helpful in creating and maintaining a good mutual relationship.

That of course is the sole objective of AAA. Free from political or any other special influence, labor and management have jointly succeeded in creating in the AAA Voluntary Labor Arbitration Tribunals an instrument for self-regulation that is the nation's strongest bulwark against the growing tide of political ambition to secure control through the settlement of disputes.

Whatever differences arise between management and labor in the future, they have created in AAA one enterprise that proves they can successfully cooperate in settling their family disputes by fair, efficient and modern methods, through private, non-political, impartial, and voluntary arbitration.

WHAT IS ARBITRABLE?

A spirited discussion occurred the other day in an AAA joint management-labor committee meeting, as to whether we should accept jurisdiction to arbitrate the terms of a new contract where the employer and the union had agreed to arbitrate terms if they failed to negotiate them in bargaining conferences.

The AAA has always faithfully followed the policy of respecting the parties' right to arbitrate any issue they voluntarily agree to submit. It is not within its province to dictate which kind of disputes may be arbitrated and which may not. That is for the parties themselves to determine. AAA is and must be neutral. Upon that neutrality and impartiality of administration has been built the whole nation-wide structure of faith in the Voluntary Labor Arbitration Tribunals. Management and labor both share that faith in ever-increasing numbers. Certainly a great testament to that faith is the willingness of both parties to such a dispute to submit to an arbitrator of their mutual choice any one or more of the essential elements of a contract that will govern their relationship for a year or longer.

We would be interested to hear from our readers on this point. The questionnaire on the last page affords a convenient means for expressing your views.

WAGE STABILIZATION BOARD DEMISE AFFECTS ARBITRATION PROVISIONS IN MANY COLLECTIVE BARGAINING AGREEMENTS

On February 24th, the National Wage Stabilization Board ceases to function in accord with the President's Executive Order 9809 issued December 12, 1946.

Parties to collective bargaining agreements which have designated the National Wage Stabilization Board or any of its Regional Boards to name the arbitrator in the event of an arbitrable dispute now face the situation of having a non-existent agency charged with the continuing responsibility under such contracts. While the President's Executive Order, Paragraph 10 (e) provided "all of the functions of the National Wage Stabilization Board are transferred to the Secretary of Labor", it is doubtful that this provision effectively clothes the Secretary of Labor with power as the designator of arbitrators in such cases. Where the contract calls for a specific person or institution to name the arbitrator and such an institution is a Government Agency which is abolished by subsequent order, it is questionable whether the parties are bound to accept the successor agency named by the President. Of course if the contract clearly states that the "original Board" or its "successor Agency" are both included in the designation then the successor can function. In the absence of providing for its "successor agency" it has been held that the condition is the same as though the contract had called for an individual to name the arbitrator, and the individual had died during the term of the contract. In many States this would throw the appointment of the arbitrator to the court.

Therefore, it is recommended that parties with such contracts now in existence consider making a supplemental agreement clearly specifying how the arbitrators are to be selected.

An analysis by the American Arbitration Association of several hundred existing contracts discloses the surprising fact that the War Labor Board is still being designated to name the arbitrator even though it has been out of existence for a year. (Of course, many of these original contracts were dictated by the War Labor Board while it was still alive).

In view of the high mortality rate, both past and future of governmental agencies, now including the National Wage Stabilization Board, all parties to collective bargaining agreements should review their contract-policy in this respect. Those who would prefer to have their arbitration agreements free from government participation of any sort may find an opportunity now to make the necessary change. Naming the American Arbitration Association to designate the arbitrator in case of deadlock is one of the alternative options. We will be glad to furnish the texts of several effective clauses upon request. Here is just one, perhaps the most frequently used today:

> Any dispute, claim or grievance arising out of or relating to this agreement shall be settled by arbitration except the following: (here state matters which are excluded from arbitration). Arbitration shall be held under the voluntary labor arbitration rules then obtaining of the American Arbitration Association. Issues shall be submitted to a Board of three arbitrators. The Union shall name one, the Company shall name one, and the third who shall be chairman shall be selected from the panels of said Association in accordance with its usual practice. The parties agree that the award shall be final and binding.

SPEAKING OF CLAUSES

Statistics are funny. One should be reasonably skeptical of their accuracy. So much depends upon who compiles them. For instance the U. S. Conciliation Service recently issued an analysis of 438 collective bargaining provisions for the designation of arbitrators in grievance disputes. Their figures indicate that the Conciliation Service is to name the arbitrator in 28% out of all of the contracts analyzed while AAA is to name the arbitrator in 9% out of 438 . One is prompted to query - "which contracts were analyzed - how and why were these picked out for analysis from the 15,000 contracts reputedly on file with the Department of Labor?"

Now comes the National Industrial Conference Board which is assuredly free from any desire to promote the use of any particular arbitration agency. It analyzes 798 contracts and finds that the U. S. Conciliation is to name the arbitrator in 214 or a ration of 28.2%, while the AAA will do so in 149 or a ratio of 19.6.

But if the several thousand contracts on file with AAA are used as the statistical base, 94% have arbitration provisions; the parties or their named arbitrators are to name the impartial third arbitrator in 62% of the cases but AAA is to break any "deadlock" in 45% plus being directly used in selecting the arbitrator in another 23% or a total of 68% who use AAA.

Obviously all three of these "averages" cannot be correct when related to the more than 50,000 collective bargaining agreements now in force.

To make clear the writer's regard for statistical principles we wish to disavow the AAA analysis as representing the average of the 50,000. We do not know how many of these call for AAA administration. We have never required that contracts that call upon AAA to function in arbitration matters must be filed with AAA to "validate" the agreement. Nor do we intend to do so. The use of AAA is a voluntary act. The filing is likewise voluntary. Our Arbitration Research Division welcomes the filing of all arbitration agreements, whether they call for AAA service or not. Important research in the trends disclosed is thus made possible.

The considerable number filed which do not involve AAA are generally submitted for confidential critical individual analysis for the benefit of the parties who want to improve their contracts in respect of the arbitration provisions. Many of them are improving. Our suggestions to this end are designed to improve arbitration procedure no matter who administers it. Our understandable pride in our own procedure is not based on how many cases but on how well we process our part of them.

SHOULD LABOR ARBITRATION AWARDS BE PUBLISHED?

In the Winter issue of the Arbitration Journal just published there is an interesting symposium on this question. Spokesmen for two labor service publishers favor publication, one opposes. Their arguments are worth reading.

However, the parties themselves have the major stake in the question. It is their disputes which are exposed and discussed in the awards. Shall these be kept private, or spread upon the records for all who may wish to read? Shall the arbitrator publish his award irrespective of consent to do so by both parties to the dispute? An authoritative poll of parties' opinion is indicated.

Your answers on the Questionnaire blank will be helpful. They will be kept confidential as to source but we will publish the overall statistical result as an important factor in the trend of labor arbitration.

THE COST OF ARBITRATION

The Association has been successful in keeping the cost of arbitrations held in its Tribunals down to a minimum. Reports from several quarters indicate that these costs are going up in other tribunals. The smaller companies and unions naturally are the more concerned. But even financially powerful corporations and unions have been disturbed by the size of fees assessed against them in recent cases.

The Arbitration Research Division, which keeps track of all trends and tendencies in arbitration, would be interested to know from readers of the L-M Arbitration Letter what the cost situation is in their locality. How much are arbitrators charging? What are the administrative fees? How big is the expense factor in bringing arbitrators from far distances. If interested in having the result of this survey reflect the experience throughout the country, will you answer the questions on the questionnaire herewith? The source of our information will be kept completely confidential. A summary of the data gathered will be sent to those who have participated in collecting it.

Under AAA rules both parties are safeguarded as to costs. This protection has not been a major factor in the past. It promises to become a vital one in the future if arbitration is to remain accessible to everyone, large or small in financial resources.

BUILDING TRADES REINFORCE THEIR ARBITRATION SET-UP

As forecast in the December issue of this Letter the organized building trades as represented by the Associated General Contractors of America and the Building and Construction Trades Department of A.F.L., on February 2 entered into a "master agreement" for the settlement of any dispute between their respective members "voluntarily submitted by mutual agreement of the parties involved in the dispute - - - ".

A joint committee is provided to furnish the necessary machinery.

That present methods are inadequate was proved almost immediately thereafter by a strike of the Lathers' Union in New York City, closing down operations on $100 million of new building and threatening $500 million more if it had gone on for as little as a week more. Fortunately, in 3 days, calmer counsel prevailed and the issues are to be arbitrated.

Sincerely,

Paul Hoffman

Vice President.

Dear Sir and Brother:

Your union members, no doubt, are aware of the anti-labor legislation pending in the 80th Congress of the United States.

It is our conviction that unless we act now, most of the proposed straight-jacket laws against labor will be passed.

Many of our local American Federation of Labor unions have joined together in sponsoring a mass meeting to acquaint the public with the necessity to prevent such proposed legislation from becoming law. At this mass meeting, held Monday, March 17, 1947, the enclosed resolutions were unanimously passed.

We urge that your organization endorse said resolutions as quickly as possible and forward them to the agencies outlined in the resolutions.

I received yours of the twenty-ninth, with Senate Bill No. 79 enclosed.

— mailed 3/7/47

Under sepbrate cover I am sending you an analysis of the more important anti-labor bills, which are about eighty in number. I have been having one hell of a time here as the going is tough and many of our friends have turned against us.

I am also sending you copy of Green's testimony in the House and Senate.

I have been sick in bed since receipt of your letter, and I am not 100% O.K. My trouble is a sciatic nerve condition in the legs, and two years ago it put me to bed for six weeks, this time it was not so severe.

With best wishes, I am

Dear Bill:

The House Committee on Education and Labor sent me your testimony, Mr. Green's, and Mr. Meany's by registered mail.

I am enclosing your copy and after it has been corrected you should mail it direct to Mr. W. Manley Sheppard, Clerk, House Committee on Education and Labor, Old House Office Building, Washington, D. C. I could not contact Mr. Routzhon, as he was not registered at the Washington Hotel.

Bill, if you could be here until this anti-labor legislation was finished you could do more good than all the rest of us together.

This is not crap, as I'm not that kind of a guy, but I, and others, noticed that the minute you got on the stand the atmosphere changed and everything was to the good.

Dear Mr. Green:

Received your letter with enclosure and wish to thank you for same.

I still feel that in place of a defensive fight, labor should take the things that you are willing to accept, and put them into a positive bill. In other words, I do not expect the American Federation of Labor to propose to Congress the enactment of anti-labor legislation, but I have and do advocate that to offset the anti-labor legislation, the American Federation of Labor and other labor organizations introduce pro-labor legislation.

If this had been done in time, I am sure the anti-labor legislation could have been defeated. I can assure you that I appreciate the interest you have shown, and when the labor bills come up, I shall do my best to get modifications and amendments. But I am very much afraid that we will not be successful in this. I will state that I feel that labor lost an opportunity by not bringing in a pro-labor bill around which its friends could have rallied.

Again thanking you for the information and enclosure, I am

Dear President Green:

This letter is intended to inform you that the Glass Bottle Blowers Association is actively engaged in following out the instructions contained in your letter of January 17th to all National and International Unions.

As you know, I was away for a considerable length of time on our trip to Argentina.

Since my return, however, I have prepared and forwarded your wishes to our Local Unions. Likewise, I have sent Petitions to be signed by our membership as well as their families and friends. These Petitions will be forwarded to Congress as well as to you, immediately upon receipt of them.

Your letter was extremely well worded and you are indeed correct when you say that this fight is a fight for each individual's protection.

Thanking you and with kind personal regards,

Washington 1, D. C. March 17, 1947.

TO THE OFFICERS OF NATIONAL AND INTERNATIONAL UNIONS, STATE FEDERATIONS OF LABOR, CITY CENTRAL BODIES AND DIRECTLY AFFILIATED LOCAL UNIONS.

Dear Sirs and Brothers:

The Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare and the House Committee on Education and Labor have concluded hearings upon anti-labor measures introduced into the Congress of the United States. The important anti-labor measures referred to provide that,

Outlaws joint welfare funds
Union-shop agreements will be eliminated
Industry-wide bargaining will be eliminated
Strikes in jurisdictional disputes will be prohibited
Strikes in certain cases will be prohibited, and a cooling-off period of from 30 days to six months is provided before a strike is permitted.
Secondary boycotts will be prohibited
Foremen will be prohibited from belonging to unions
The National Labor Relations Act will be drastically amended
The United States Conciliation Service will be revised or abolished
The President will be empowered to seize industries essential to public welfare, as the mines were seized under War Powers

Registration and detailed financial report

Makes unions liable in all courts

These anti-labor measures are against you. If passed, they will limit your freedom and liberty, weaken your unions, making them less effective, and subject them to court prosecution.

The representatives of Labor appeared before the Committees of Congress in opposition to the enactment of these proposed measures into law. Strong, convincing argument was presented by representatives of the American Federation of Labor in opposition to this proposed legislation, to the committees of both Houses of Congress. Notwithstanding this fact, the indications are that a majority of the Members of Congress seem to be in favor of the enactment of highly objectionable anti-labor legislation.

For this reason I deem it my duty to bring the situation to your attention, with the request that the officers and all members of the American Federation of Labor and all their friends communicate with their representatives in the Congress of the United States immediately, protesting against the enactment of these anti-labor measures and appealing to them to vote against them.

I am advised by Members of Congress that many of them receive telegrams and letters in large volume from their constituents who favor the enactment of anti-labor legislation. On the other hand, very few communications are received from labor or labor's friends in opposition to the enactment of said legislation.

This ought to be reversed. Labor and its friends, numbering from sixty million to eighty million people, ought to shower the Members of Congress with letters and telegrams in opposition to the enactment of these vicious anti-labor measures. There are sufficient members of organized labor and their friends to do this. It ought to be done and you can do it.

We will fight here in Washington with all the power at our command against the enactment of this anti-labor legislation. I call upon you to join with us, to fight with us, to do what I know you can do in a most convincing and effective way - shower the Members of Congress with letters, telegrams and communications appealing to them in the name of labor, freedom, liberty and justice to vote against the vicious anti-labor measures now pending in Congress.

Please respond to this request immediately. The time for action is here because, with the hearings on these anti-labor measures concluded, votes will be taken upon said measures very soon.

Act immediately, without a moment's unnecessary delay. Write or wire your representative in Congress as I have herein requested. Call upon all your friends to do likewise.

Fraternally yours,

Wm. Green

President,
American Federation of Labor.

LABOR LEGISLATION, HOUSE LABOR COMMITTEE

The Republican members are in disagreement in regard to Labor Legislation. They are divided into two general groups; one led by Gwynne of New York, who wish to place every possible restriction upon labor, and the other led by Landis of Indiana, who do not wish to go so far.

The Democrats are not being consulted at all and will not be called in until the Republicans have agreed upon a bill. It is then intended to rush the bill through the House.

I attach a copy of a bill introduced by Mr. Landis yesterday. It is a very bad bill. I direct your attention to the fact that this bad bill comes from the leader of the Republican group who say they do not wish to enact drastic anti-labor laws -- God only knows what the other group will propose if the attached bill, H.R. 2748, is a sample of non drastic legislation.

Dear Senator Magnuson:

The undersigned representing over 1000 members in American Federation of Labor unions request that you use your influence to stop the passage of Legislation that will eliminate or prohibit union-shop agreements, industry-wide bargaining, strikes in jurisdictional disputes, secondary boycotts, foremen joining unions, Legislation providing cooling off periods, drastically amending the National Labor Relations Act, abolishing the United States Conciliation Service, and to empower the President to seize any industry.

It is our sincere belief that if Congress should enact any or all of the above into law, it would bring chaos, as it would limit freedom and liberty that has been won by labor over a period of years, after a hard struggle and such Legislation is reactionary and detrimental to all concerned.

Trusting that you will vote against any anti-labor Legislation and endeavor to have other members of Congress to do likewise, I am

Dear Mr. Martel:

I wish to acknowledge receipt of your letter of March 5.

I heartily agree with you that the business of Congress should be to eliminate the cause for unrest, instead of bringing out a whole sackfull of vicious anti-labor legislation.

The recent teachers' strike certainly was not communist inspired. They just simply couldn't make ends meet on their salaries. The Republican program of high prices and high profits, and additional tax reductions for the rich, is heading the nation for an economic bust. Now, on top of it all, they are going to take off rent control. I think that they will not have long to enjoy their victory of last November.

For my part, I am proud that I have a 100% voting record for Labor, and I intend to keep it that way.

My dear Mr. President:

Thanks for your able letter of March 3rd.

As usual, I am greatly interested in your discussion of pending labor legislation. It is obviously impossible to canvass a subject of this magnitude within the necessary limits of a letter. You may depend upon it, however, that I shall not forget your point of view in connection with my own continuing study of this matter.

I presented my own views on labor legislation in some detail in my recent Grand Rapids speech. I think perhaps my best answer to your letter is to enclose a reprint herewith.

You will forgive the necessary haste of this acknowledgment.

With warm personal regards and best wishes,

My dear Mr. Martel:

I have your letter of March 3rd, in which you state that there aremany bills introduced in Congress designed to "hamstring the trade union movement of this country."

I doubt this and I am of the opinion that there is no foundation for such a statement. There are a good many bills before Congress designed to correct some of the abuses which have crept into organized abor. In my opinion, labor leaders should be the first to come forward ith a solution to the conditions now existing.

It is very difficult to justify 4700 strikes in one year, causing loss of 100,000,000 man days of labor and wages. This is not progress.

My own thinking is that all of our people should be placed upon equal footing before the law and that our American system of private erprise be maintained and preserved. Without it there will be no such ng as prosperity or progress in the best country in the world.

Very sincerely yours,

Dear Frank:

I am quite overcome with the concrete evidence furnished in your letter of March 3rd that you have not forgotten your having a freshman Congressman down here in Washington.

I was certainly glad to hear from you even if you were trying to take the hide off of me. Your letter certainly covers the water front and if I tried to reply to every point you raise, I would not even get on the floor of the House for lack of time.

Yours is not the only letter I have received from people who are raising this cry of destroying the rights of unions and union membership. I can certainly appreciate the concern that you and others in the union movement have as to the outcome of all the legislation that has been proposed.

Nearly 100 bills have been introduced in both the House and Senate committees on labor and as you know, hearings have been in progress for the last four weeks and will probably continue for another two weeks.

As I am not on the labor committee I cannot speak intelligently as to what will come out after their hearings as to their recommendations for legislation but I do know the membership of these committees well enough to believe that they are not going into this matter with the idea of unfairly treating organized labor. I happen to know a good many members of the House committee personally and I do not believe that they would want to be unfair to any group. If labor situations everywhere had been handled with as much good judgment as has been in the main characteristic of the Federation of labor group in Detroit, I don't believe there would be quite the heat in evidence that there is at the present time. You are suffering from some of the actions of radical groups for which actions organized labor gets the blame.

There is a general feeling throughout the country that some definite action or legislation is called for at this session and I think you will find it coming out to the floor of the House within the next thirty days.

I am going to try to be fair in facing it so far as my own attitude is concerned and in doing so I shall try to recall the respect I have always had for your judgment and attitude even though at times we have been on different sides of the fence.

Why don't you come down here and testify before this committee and give them an example of what a labor statesman can be? If you do decide to come down here, you will be welcome in my office for I have always looked upon you as a friend in spite of the way you havekicked me around.

With best wishes,

Dear Mr. Martel:

Your communication regarding labor legislation dated March 3 has been brought to my attention.

As you know, I am a member of A. F. of L. Local No. 98, Plumbers and Steamfitters Union. I have been a working man all my life and you may be assured that any legislation which receives my support will be legislation which in my opinion is designed to benefit the working man. Undoubtedly, legislation will be advocated which will be vicious in nature and designed to further selfish interests. I am prepared to use my voice in separating the chaff from the wheat and the good from the bad.

I am happy to have the expression of your opinion in the subject communication and also at any time in the future. If we do not see eye to eye upon the passage of any specific legislation, I shall still be receptive to your views and urge that you do not hesitate to communicate with me at any time.

Dear President Green:

I am in receipt of your March 15th circular which sets forth the present conditions of the various anti-labor bills now pending before Congress.

I have forwarded petitions to our trade which are to be signed by our membership and their friends, protesting the anti-labor legislation.

I likewise am wiring our Local Unions, in accordance with your request. Also, this office is wiring each Representative and Senator of our stand on this legislation, and I will see that you get copies of these communications.

It would appear that many members of Trade Unions consider this legislation in the light of political strategy, more so than its effect upon their future welfare. So many organized workers today received the benefits which took years to attain by not having to struggle for them; therefore, they are not too conscious of the terrific set-backs that can be given them. I find that in Local Unions where the membership had to fight for recognition, their activities are greater and their interest more keen.

Rest assured that our Association will cooperate with you most fully in any plan that you may have to counteract this legislation.

With kindest personal regards and best wishes, I am, believe me,

Dear Sir and Brother:

Your communication of March 17th, received here today and contents noted with respects to anti-labor legislation. We have a labor paper here which is published every Friday, and while I have only been the secretary of the Central Body, since the last part of August 1946. I, have written over one hundred articles for that paper.

I keep telling organized labor through its columns to write their representatives in the senate, and house, opposing anti-labor legislation, just how many worker will heed this notice you, or I, do not know. It is a hard matter to try and get workers to write letters to their representatives, and tell them their views.

In looking through my files I, find that I, do not have a roster of the members of the Senate, and House, with their respective committee's. While I have written many letters to our representatives in Washington, I, would still like to have a roster in order to contact more committee members in both houses.

Attached is an article written by me, which was published in the daily news paper here. I knew I could get it printed in our labor paper, but, then I just thought I would try that paper for once, they printed it. I also sent my two senators, and congressman, a copy and one of them took it pretty hard but, he knew it was a fact.

I want to write Senators Ferguson, and Smith, also Rep Landis, but I do not have a roster to get their full names. So if possible please send me a roster of both houses.

Thanking you in advance I remain.

...Central Labor ...that its affiliated ...and the A. F. of L. ...throughout the na... ...have lived up to every col... ...bargaining agreement ...by them. We can see no ...why the workers of this ...should have such legisla... ...forced up on them by the ...congress as the Case bill, the Ball bill, or the Taft-Ball-Smith bill.

Restrictive labor legislation forced upon a nation of free people will not prevent strikes. This has always been the views of free people who band themselves together and bargain collectively with employers, in order to achieve better wages and working conditions.

Some of the employers who are in high positions take just the opposite views. They want to return to the "Harding and Daugherty company unions" where the workers were just a part of the machinery in their work shops and, when they had received the best years of the workers' earning power, they cast him aside as a worn-out part of the machine, through a reduction in forces; although some employers who were more bold just discharged the employe without any excuse, telling him he could no longer use him as part of his machine, because his productive days were over, and to keep him on the job would only retard production in his plant.

I cannot get the idea in my mind, when employers of this caliber have highly-paid lobbyists working for them through the National Association of Manufacturers, and their two auxiliaries, U. S. Chamber of Commerce and American Association of Railroads, which is the only one big union in the nation, working against their workers who by the profits of their labor produce every article manufactured in the nation, and at the same time these employers claim to be good Republicans and followers of Abe Lincoln.

Abraham Lincoln said: "Capital is only the fruit of labor, and could never have existed if labor had not first existed. To secure each laborer the whole product of labor, as nearly as pos-

...views ...capital hamper... ...legislation which will ...these workers, in order ...the employers of this nation ...oppress and intimidate its workers, then I think it appropriate that those who serve in both houses of congress remember the words spoken by Honest Abraham Lincoln.

For unto this day the people of this nation have never had such a God-fearing man as he, who could recite the Bible from Genesis 1, to Revelations 22:21, and he knew his God. Moreover the forces of Satan, did unto him as they did unto his crucified Lord.

So when a person claims to be a follower of Abe Lincoln, as being the father of the Republican party, let him first examine himself and find out if he measures up to the qualifications of those practiced by Hon. Abraham Lincoln, and it will certainly do all of us much good to acquire the learning and knowledge of St. Luke 16: 19-31.

Dear Sir and Brother:

This will acknowledge receipt of your letter of March 17, 1947, addressed to the officers of national and international unions, state federations of labor, city central bodies and directly affiliated local unions, stating that the Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare and the House Committee on Education and Labor have concluded hearings upon anti-labor measures introduced into the Congress of the United States and enumerating the important anti-labor measures under consideration. We note you urge all of the affiliates of the American Federation of Labor to immediately shower the members of Congress with letters and telegrams appealing to the name of labor to vote against these vicious anti-labor measures now pending in Congress.

In reply will state that we are in this mail passing this information along to the members of our General Executive Board and our organizing staff, who in turn will contact the local unions in their respective districts to have the request contained in your letter carried out. We feel certain that our local unions and membership will extend full cooperation.

Meeting called to consider Sub. Dept Appropriations for 1948 March 26, 1947.

Held in Mg. Com. Office Room 606 A.F.L. Bldg.

Miss Thorne, Miss Sentenyod, Mr. Watt, Shishkin, Fenton, Hines Mason and Hushing were present.

Messrs Watt, Fenton and Miss Thorne reported on the Conferences which they and Mr Bambrick, as representative of the A. F. of L. had with Undersecretary of Labor Keen Johnson and Asst Secretaries Hanna, Gibson and Morse.

The gist of their report was, that the Labor Department agreed to form a policy for the Department to present bureaus within it from undertaking each other with Congress and furnish the A.F. of L. a report as to the Departments appropriation needs with brief justifications therefor.

2. That the report would be considered by the A.F. of L. and presentations made to the Senate Approp. Com. on such portions of the Departments report as were in conformity with A.F. of L. policy.

3. That at Mr Watts suggestion Pres. Green, Pres Murray C.I.O. and Dave Robertson of the T.W.U. should make a general statement before the Sen. Approp Com.

It was stated by Chairman Hushing that at the last meeting of the A.F. of L. advisors to the several Labor Dept Bureaux were to confer with the Senate leads and report back as to the Reuss points and further that before we booked them up that complaints as to non-payment by Treas. be looked by more reasons to Thurmond that the conference be above reported advisedly with the Sec Dept officials were ok, accepting the commitments and settlement of the complaints against actions Reuss complained, Secretary Hodges. He was up with members These people outside the A.F.L. who used use to secure ~~this~~ appropriations and Dave and Thurmond their noses at us the rest of the time.

He also ~~the~~ stated ~~further~~ that he knew from practical experience that it would be impossible for Pres Truman or anyone else to go before the Senate Com. and make a general statement to the effect that we aided in creating the Dept for the benefit of all workers and request ample funds for its activities without ~~some~~ Senators wanting to know how much money was needed and where and how it was to be used.

A lengthy and thorough discussion ensued and it was finally agreed

1 To make no commitments and await the report from the Labor Dept.,

2 to discuss it, ascertain our position, make our recommendations to Pres Truman, get his decision and then the entire group, including the Leg Com mbrs, to confer with high officials of the Lab Dept officials ~~of~~ regarding to discuss it and take up our complaints.

3. Require the Department to briefly justify, on paper, all appropriate in order that whoever appear before the Sup Ct from Kauai might intelligently discuss them.

TO EACH INTERNATIONAL AND LOCAL UNION REPRESENTATIVE

Dear Sir and Brother:

How much are we doing to prevent the enactment of vicious anti-labor laws? Certainly, not enough. In the Congress of the United States, the following very important anti-labor measures have been introduced:

ELIMINATION OF UNION SHOP AGREEMENTS.

ELIMINATION OF INDUSTRY-WIDE BARGAINING CONTRACTS.

ELIMINATION OF STRIKES ARISING OVER THE QUESTION OF JURISDICTIONAL DISPUTES.

ELIMINATION OF STRIKES UNTIL A COOLING-OFF PERIOD OF FROM THIRTY DAYS TO SIX MONTHS HAS EXPIRED.

ELIMINATION OF SECONDARY BOYCOTTS.

ELIMINATION OF THE RIGHT OF FOREMEN TO BELONG TO ANY LABOR UNION.

TO DRASTICALLY AMEND THE NATIONAL LABOR RELATIONS ACT.

TO EMPOWER THE PRESIDENT TO SEIZE INDUSTRIES ESSENTIAL TO PUBLIC WELFARE WHEN STRIKES OCCUR.

These anti-labor measures are against you. They are against America. If passed, they will limit your freedom and liberty, weaken our unions and subject them to court prosecutions.

Many members of Congress have advised President Green that they receive thousands of letters and telegrams from their constituents who favor the enactment of the anti-labor legislation mentioned above. On the other hand, it appears that very few communications or telegrams are received from representatives of organized labor and their friends in opposition to the enactment of said legislation.

We must get busy. We cannot sit supinely by while a handful of labor enemies shackle the hands and feet of some 60,000,000 organized workers and their friends. We must fight with all our might.

Immediately, inform your Congressmen and United States Senators that your total membership opposes all of the anti-labor measures mentioned in this letter. Don't wait until tomorrow. Act now and get your friends to do likewise.

STATEMENT ISSUED BY THE LABOR-MANAGEMENT ADVISORY COMMITTEE

The members of the Labor-Management Advisory Committee of the United States Conciliation Service have discussed the action of the House of Representatives with respect to appropriations for the Conciliation Service. If the Senate concurs, certain key positions in the Conciliation Service will be eliminated.

Everyone agrees that a strong conciliation and mediation service is essential if the peaceful settlement of labor disputes is to be encouraged and sound labor-management relations fostered.

Congress is now considering a number of proposals for strengthening and expanding the Conciliation Service. Until Congress has made its decision, the present Conciliation Service has an important job to perform. The disorganization of the Service, before Congress has decided basic policy matters, would be unfortunate at this critical time.

Our Committee has the responsibility for making recommendations to the Secretary of Labor or to the Director of the Conciliation Service with respect to the policies, procedures, organizations, and the development of adequate standards and qualifications for the personnel of the Service. We believe that substantial progress has been made in the past 12 months and that Mr. Edgar Warren, as Director of the Service, has conscientiously discharged the duties of his office.

We have no doubt that the Service, under Mr. Warren's leadership, has sought to represent the public interest in the peaceful settlement of labor disputes, and we are of the opinion that all who have been associated with Mr. Warren regard him as a loyal and patriotic American.

Dear Sir and Brother:

I herewith reply to your two letters of recent dates. I was pleased to learn that a mass meeting which was held under the auspices of the Toledo Central Body at Toledo on March 22nd was a success and that our legislative representative, Mr. Lewis G. Hines, made a deep impression through the address he delivered to those who attended the mass meeting. I am gratified to learn of the fine service which Brother Hines rendered and to note your expression of appreciation of his attendance at the mass meeting. I knew Brother Hines would measure up to the requirements of the situation and was glad to assign him to attend the Toledo mass meeting.

I noted in your other letter that a Mr. Elmer Chapman of the Letter Carriers Union has been designated by the Toledo Central Labor Union to render special service in the campaign which we are organizing in opposition to the adoption of anti-labor legislation both state and national. Be assured the legislative representatives of the American Federation of Labor will cooperate fully with Mr. Chapman in a full and complete way and will extend to him all help and assistance possible so that he may in turn give valuable help and assistance to the American Federation of Labor in the fight we are making against the adoption of anti-labor legislation.

Very truly yours,

The Honorable Walter K. Granger
House of Representatives
Washington, D. C.

My Dear Mr. Granger:

In behalf of all members of the Railway Patrolmen's Unions, and their wives and families, of the Intermountain Section, we hereby convey to you our protest against the enactment of proposed anti-labor legislation, such as that:

Union-shop agreements be abolished;
Industry-wide bargaining be eliminated;
Strikes in jurisdictional disputes be prohibited;
Strikes in certain cases be prohibited, and a cooling-off period of from 30 days to six months be provided before a strike is permitted;
That secondary boycotts be prohibited;
That foremen be prohibited from belonging to unions;
That the National Labor Relations Act be drastically amended;
That the United States Conciliation Service be revised or abolished;
Or that the President be empowered to seize industries essential to public welfare, as the mines were seized under War Powers. (Nor shall responsibility for safety operations in such mines be disclaimed if and while they are so seized).

We maintain that attempts to thus put crimps on labor are in fact attempts to reclaim relics of the Nazis. One of the first moves Hitler and his gang made to gain their diabolical powers was to exterminate labor unions in Germany. The proposed anti-labor legislation strikes deep at the roots and will sap the foundations of the labor movement, which movement has meant so much toward raising the standards of living in America. If enacted into law the proposed anti-labor legislation will lend further grounds for the growing conviction that the late war was not fought so much to rid the world of Nazism as it was fought to transfer Nazi powers from Germany to avaricious industrial leaders and their henchmen here in the United States of America.

We members of the Union and our wives and our families and friends resent these intrusions; we brand them as malicious and devastating to the economical as well as to the intellectual progress of our Nation, and in the name of freedom, liberty and justice, we urge you to vote against them.

With heartiest appreciations,

Very sincerely yours,

Culbert Bowen
