It is time again to look over the broad situation, to size up what is going on in the world. Frankly, things don't look at all good.

A war attitude is guiding U.S. policy. There's a regular war strategy in moves made. The war at this stage is political, economic, not military.

War itself, fighting war, is probably 10 years away, maybe 15, not 5.

Fighting war, however, could be the end product of present political war. It is about all to look forward to. That's the long and short of it.

Idea of being tough with Russia, the "Truman doctrine," sounded good at the time. The only trouble is that Russia doesn't react according to formula. She gets harder, not softer. That isn't what the theory called for.

Hard fact of the matter, with trimmings off, is simply this:

U.S. is slipping, not winning, in the "cold" war, the political war. Troops may have to follow dollars in Greece. That situation is bad. French Communists have U.S. checkmated in carrying out ideas to put Germany to work. China is slipping from bad to worse fast. It really is a mess.

Marshall plan for putting up more dollars isn't doing so well either. Its chance of success is not more than 50-50, if that. Europe wants all the dollars, but doesn't want to make changes needed to become self-supporting. Congress, too, is going to ask many questions before putting up more money.

Dollars, as matters stand, are not going to win the "cold" war.

If real war, "hot" war, then comes, it still won't be so simple.

U.S. probably cannot conquer Russia. Top military men say that.

U.S. might, after immense effort, push Russia back to her old borders.

Europe, now in bad way, then would be a complete shambles, nothing left. Russia would be very badly smashed up, too. There is no doubt about that.

U.S., in parts, might be quite a shambles as well--from bombs.

Also, man-power losses almost surely would be great. Debt now amounting to $260,000,000,000 would be at least $1,000,000,000,000. Taxes would become confiscatory if any effort were made to avoid real inflation. Another war will almost surely end in socialism for U.S. The present system couldn't survive.

That's about the size of it. It is quite a problem.

Of course, it's easy to point out these things. It is not so easy to figure out what would work any better, what course would avoid war.

Alternatives offered, but officially rejected, include these:

Alternative No. 1: Accept Russia's dominance in Eastern Europe. Try to make a deal on handling problems in the rest of the world. Recognize that Russia may have a "sphere" in her area as U.S. has in this Hemisphere.

Alternative No. 2: Pull back from Europe and let the revolutions blow. Forget about trying to shore up wrecked economic systems. Let new groups come to power, even at the cost of wiping out old property rights.

Neither course is acceptable to U.S. It may be too late for either.

The U.S. dilemma, under present policy, basically is this:

FOREWORD

When presenting this pamphlet to the American People, a few brief words concerning the history and origin of the two articles are necessary. Part I entitled "A Letter to the 80th U. S. Congress" was drafted and mailed to members of Congress and Secretary of State George Marshall from the city of Miami, Fla. When it was read to my local union—an A.F.L. affiliate in Pittsburgh, Pa.—I was informed, by mail that it was well received and was approved by the membership. I then mailed a copy to President Green of the A.F.L. who promptly acknowledged it on behalf of the A.F.L. Executive Council. Since then it has been widely read in liberal political and trade union circles. Part Two is the text of an informal discussion between myself and a group of trade union members, July 4th, 1947, in Pittsburgh, Pa. This is the first time this text has been released to the public. Fortunately, the reader will find it easy to check my remarks by looking at the map of Europe prior to the rise of Hitler, and at the map as it looks today, plus the reader's own experience here at home since V-J Day. The actions of the G.O.P. controlled 80th Congress, in enacting the Taft-Hartley Bill over the protests, not only of Organized Labor, but business men as well, is but one example of how far mentally they are from the needs and wishes of the people. Since the Taft-Hartley Bill is a clear violation of the personal and political rights of all the American people, as guaranteed by the United States Constitution, it must be repealed. Labor should leave no stone unturned to accomplish the repeal of this infamous law and should now prepare for the 1948 elections, and send to Congress men and women who are mentally in step with the changed national and international situation.

As to my identity—I have been a member of Organized Labor for a number of years, and it has been my good fortune to know not only members of th[illegible]rade unions but business men, also. Through my contact with them, I am convinced that only a tiny portion of business here in the U. S. A. is reactionary, either in politics or economics. My remarks on foreign policy will be helpful to those business men who, in a few years time, will need a foreign market for the surplus we will be producing. To the men and women who took part in the discussion, I am indebted, as their remarks and financial help was the inspiration needed to bring these facts to the attention of the American people.

THE AUTHOR.

A LETTER TO THE EIGHTIETH [illegible]S. CONGRESS

Miami, Fla.

January 29, 1947.

To: The President Pro Tem of the Senate,

To: The Speaker of the House of Representatives,

To: The Chairman of the Senate and House Committee on Labor and

To: The Chairman of the Senate and House Foreign Affairs Committee, members of these committees, members of the 80th Congress.

Honorable Members of Congress:

I sincerely hope that each and every member will give this letter their most serious consideration, as it expresses some very decided opinions about the future welfare of our nation. Since we all have a personal stake in the U.S.A. the legislation enacted by the present session, be it good or bad, cannot help but affect not only our country but the rest of the world as well. I feel called upon to state my views as an American citizen and as a member of the Organized Labor movement for a number of years. I believe of the many important problems our country faces today, two problems are of utmost importance and to the degree that Congress faces these problems in a realistic manner the happier the U.S.A. and the rest of the world will be. In number listed the two problems are as follows: (a) World Peace and (b) Labor Legislation. Since Congress has already felt the pressure of backward and unenlightened men who have been very articulate about the evils of the unions, it is high time that the real truth was known concerning the activities of such bodies. Briefly I shall attempt to call to your attention some old and new labor history. Once you men and women know the facts then when called upon to vote for or against repressive labor legislation you can do so with a clear conscience and take the responsibility for doing so.

The Role of the Unions in a Democracy

When the trade unions were first organized their objective was to raise wages and shorten the hours of work for their members. On the legislative field the union's efforts succeeded in having social legislation enacted that benefited not only union men and women but all sections of our population. The public schools and state institutions of higher learning with which we point with so much pride to the rest of the world are but examples of the efforts of the Unions in the early history of our nation. Yet seldom is the fact mentioned that Labor had to wage a bitter struggle against prejudice to have such legislation enacted.

The United States Constitution and the Bill of Rights has at all times had no better guardian than the Organized Trade Union movement of the U.S.A. Space will not permit me to go into further detail on constructive legislation of labor but I believe Congress should review the period of 1920-1930 and if you do you will find that the widespread use of the Federal Courts and the injunctions issued by those bodies was responsible for breaking strikes. Thus the power of the Unions to bargain for better wages was greatly weakened. Doubtless the low wages paid by employers at that time was a factor in helping to bring about the depression of 1929-1933. If you will but remember, this was a dark period in American history with hunger, homelessness and bankruptcy. No section of American life escaped the effects of that awful period, and I am sure no member of Congress wishes to be instrumental in causing fear and worry of another economic disaster.

The Role of the National Labor Relations Act

Since 1936 this law by Congress has become very popular with workers and its results are shown in the economic life of the country as today the working people enjoy better wages and shorter hours than ever before. It must be noted by Congress that ere certain employers would recognize the legality of such a law Labor had to plead its case before the Supreme Court of the U.S.A.

Since then the Unions have grown in numbers and today many elderly workers enjoy seniority and vacations with pay and dignity of having a representative state and help to remedy any injustice or grievance. Thus the unrestricted rights of unions must under no circumstances be interfered with by anti-labor acts of Congress. Otherwise, the enemies of democracy will have a field day. Once the facts are known to Congress it will be clearly seen that the role of the Labor Unions today is much the same as when first organized.

The Road of Labor During 1941-1945

If what I have just written is true and it is true then you may ask of me: Why All the Hue and Cry to Amend the Wagoner Act? To Prohibit Industry-wide Contracts? To Prohibit or Outlaw the Closed Shop and Numerous Other Laws to Restrict Labor? Personally, I am at a loss to account for such a mental attitude and for that reason I have classified such people as backward, unintelligent and prejudiced. They may understand profit and loss on their books but they are blinded to the welfare of our nation and their judgment is not to be taken seriously in matters of such important legislation as labor's needs. It is to be regretted that they have been able to get the ear of Congress so soon after a war to defeat reaction on a world scale was fought and won.

Congress has excellent facilities for getting the facts, a few of which I shall list, from the Department of Labor files, from the officials of the Organized Labor organizations who maintain National Headquarters in Washington, D. C. It is no secret that America amazed the world with the speed we armed, trained and equipped 12,000,000 men and women who served in the Armed Forces. It is no secret that Lend Lease to our Allies all over the world not only of arms but food, clothing, medical supplies, etc., made friends for the U.S.A. It is no secret, either here or abroad, that such an amazing task was accomplished with the joint working agreement of business, labor and government and that to succeed in such a huge task a united effort was needed. Yet those same backward unenlightened men were howling for labor's scalp, then as now. Fortunately, no one paid much attention to them then as they were a tiny minority of our population.

I sincerely hope that Congress will heed the advice of the representatives of labor. If they do so, the U.S.A. need have no fear of the future, as we have the natural resources, the machinery, the know how, and can do, and we, at all costs, must make the best use of such to better the material condition of all America.

The U.S.A. and World Peace

Since I am not as familiar with world affairs as I am with matters of labor I will confine most of my remarks to generalities as to the course I think the U.S.A. should take as a leader for world peace within the United Nations. The Senate will be called upon to ratify treaties negotiated by the State Department and other matters such as foreign trade, atomic energy, etc., and my remarks may be helpful in arriving at some course of action. When the war came to a halt, late in 1945, I read with awe the destructive power of the atomic bomb. Since then I have had occasion to talk to several of my Union brothers who witnessed the after-effects of the bomb on the two cities of Japan. I could not help but be impressed with their views as well as the testimony that the atomic scientists disclosed during public hearings before the committees of the House and Senate. Since you have records of the testimony I think it would be wise to use such documents for a basis for some conclusions.

The open hearings disclosed three simple facts that must not be lost sight of and I will list them in rotation as to their importance.

(a) That the secrets of the bomb could not be forever kept a secret.

(b) That there was no defense against an attack with atomic bombs.

(c) That atomic energy if properly used opened up unlimited possibilities in all fields of American life and that with the natural resources of the U.S.A. the average person could in a few short years enjoy life as we had never done before. These are cold hard facts and must be faced, as today, school children are asking how they can be happy in an atomic world. Such questions must be answered by our statesmen and leaders in public life. Mankind is faced with the problem of living in peace or destroying the better part of the civilized world in an atomic war.

No political party, leader, or government, today, can ignore this fact and remain mentally in step with the people of the country.

The Power of Atomic Energy for Peace

Unfortunately, the deadly power of the atomic bomb has overshadowed for a time the future use of atomic energy here in the U.S.A. and within the United Nations as the common meeting ground of the peace-loving nations of the world. I am also afraid it has escaped the attention of some of our leaders in public life, who do not yet seem to understand that when the war came to an end the era of secret diplomacy in world politics came to an end also. That future diplomacy would have to be conducted on a much higher plane than ever before and that to conduct such diplomacy fears and past prejudices had to be quickly dispelled, otherwise our foreign policy would not be understood and thus the difficulties of maintaining peace would be greater than they need be. Thus the U.S.A. and its elected representatives are faced with this problem, as well as many other problems. Yet, if a start is made towards conquering fears and prejudices, the same problems appear less complex.

Within the Big Four Nations, the United States and Soviet Russia enjoy jointly, with Great Britain and France, leadership within the United Nations. Since during the war, we, the U.S.A., did not distrust the Soviets, why should we, as a nation, distrust her now in peace time? Yet, if we are to believe the stories in the press and the slogans, such as "get tough with Russia policy" and "appease Russia," we must come to the understanding we distrust her actions. What forms the basis for such headlines and slogans? Nothing more than prejudice and needless fears based on the old method of thinking that laid the basis of World War II. Here we must make a real beginning to overcome past prejudices and fears. The attitude of the Soviets towards science is well known in the scientific world as far back as 1933. The Soviets have been accused of many crimes but never of wishful thinking or unreality, either in domestic or foreign affairs, and it must be presumed that in time Russa will make the best possible use of atomic energy to rebuild her shattered economy. Scientists, both economic

Dear Sir & Brother.

In a seperate envelope I am mailing several political pamphlets which I hope will be useful to you in your efforts to have the Taft Hartly Bill repealed.

In preparing my remarks on Foreign Policy I had for refference two reports prepared for the 80th U.S. Congress (A) Communism in Action (B) Fascism in Action and I am enclosing some remarks from a buisness magazine that states, openly the policy of the State Dept. I believe in view of events taking place in world politics that the quicker labors ranks are united again the more effective we can be on the political field. Their fore I hope you will make the best possible use of the information I offer in healing the split in labors ranks and also in combatting the hysteria that has been created since V.J. Day. The U.S.A. is a big country and produces big men in all walks of life, and if we of labor can oer come the differences with in our own ranks we would then be setting an exam le for buisness and political partys.

Wishing You Success in Your Efforts.

I Remain Fraternaly Yours.

Gentlemen:

Being a member of a high school debate team I naturally find it necessary to obtain as much material as possible on the question Resolved: That the federal government should require arbitration of labor disputes in the basic american industries.

As a member of the negative team I would appreciate it greatly if you could send me material on the above question, Taft Hartley Bill, other labor legislation, etc., etc..

I would also appreciate it if you could give the names and addresses of other places to obtain information.

Thank you for your prompt consideration.

Mr. Wm. Green, Pres.

American Federation of Labor,

San Francisco, Calif.

Dear Mr. Greey,

Just heard on Radio you want to put on an Educational program to arouse the working men and women and voters generally to vote to defeat those legislators who were responsible for passing the Taft-Hartley Bill. I am for you. I would like to suggest that you use The Townsend Plan as an instrument in achieving your end.

The Townsend Movement is againstThe Taft-Hartley Bill also, because it tends to curb and to frustrate the right of free press, which is vital to that movement and must be preserved if any organization be it Townsend Plan or Labor Plan is to survive.

Dr. Townsend is now in California, either Oakland or LosAngeles. Call him in for Conference. Endorse The Townsend Plan, and 12,000 well organized Townsend Clubs throughout the Nation will go into action with your Organization and also with The C.I.O. with such a Sweep that not only will the makers of The Taft-Hartley Bill be defeated but the ground work for a Coalition Candidate for The Presidency will have been laid that will assure Labor a man that will see to it that Legislation favorable to it is enacted in the next Congress. By joining with Dr. Townsend NOW to help him enact H.R. 16 now before The House of Representatives, (In a Pigeon Hole) you will I am sure find a tremendous fighting force in the 18000,000 Zealous Townsendites who would go all out to help you defeat Taft and all his henchmen, further-more

By endorsing The Townsend Plan, you will be doing all of your own Memb a great favor by securing to them a Pension of approximately $100.00 Per Month at the of 60 years should they care to retire then. You would also be helping to promote Pr by helping to keep a lot of money constantly in circulation thereby doing away with depressions. Must hurry to mail this.

Yours very truly, C.G. Hall.

forever, to make Americans conscious of their fundamental right to a free press. His name was Andrew Hamilton, Speaker of the Pennsylvania Assembly and designer of noble Independence Hall.

When the cruel, grafting William Cosby, royal governor of the colony of New York, caused editor-printer John Peter Zenger to be thrown into jail for daring to print in his Journal the truth about Cosby, Hamilton, despite his infirmities, came to the defense.

In accord with the laws of Charles I, the prosecution urged that any criticism of an officer of the government was libel, whether true or false. The jury was denied the right to inquire into the truth or falsity of the articles Zenger printed.

RISKING his freedom and perhaps his life Hamilton declared that to call the truth a libel "is a sword in the hands of a wicked king and an arrant coward, to destroy the innocent."

Despairing of the honesty of the Crown's officers, Hamilton turned to the jury, "As we are denied the liberty of giving evidence to prove the truth — I beg leave to lay it down as a rule that the suppressing of evidence ought to be taken for the strongest evidence.

"The question before you, gentlemen of the jury, is not of small nor private concern; it is not the cause of a poor printer, nor of New York alone, which you are now trying. No! It may in its consequence affect every free man in America. It is the best cause. It is the cause of liberty."

The Bench was furious and practically demanded a guilty verdict but our freedom and Zenger's was in the hands of those American jurymen. In minutes they returned from their deliberations with the verdict: "Not Guilty."

Freedom of the press was eventually written into our Constitution as Amendment No. 1 of the Bill of Rights. We owe this to the courage of one brave old man.

Let us never cease in our vigilance to preserve the right so dearly won.

Buying Power Needed To Avert Panic: CIO

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—President Philip Murray of the C.I.O. said here that the country is headed for a severe depression unless there is a reversal of what he called the trend to higher profits and smaller purchasing power. He declared "American working men and women celebrated Labor Day in a fighting mood."

Murray said that organized labor's position in favor of continued price controls had been proved right by "the high prices and enormous profits of today." He added:

"I want to say right here—and say most emphatically—that the nation is heading toward another depression—a depression that could easily make the last one appear to be only a minor economic setback.

"I am not saying that another depression is just around the corner. I am saying that the present trend of higher and higher profits and smaller and smaller purchasing power must be halted and reversed if we are to avoid economic chaos in the future. Of this you can be certain."

'Red Riding Hood' Hit

LONDON—The "cruel" story of Little Red Riding Hood should be kept from children, the Nursery Schools Association of Britain advised last week. Any child who listens to the story "will feel quivers of fear", the association's education secretary said.

Employment Drop Augurs Grim Future

WASHINGTON—The signs of depression multiplied as the Census Bureau reported 150,000 fewer jobs in August than there were in July.

The bureau said the number of civilians with jobs during August was 59,914,000 compared with 60,079,000 in July, high point in the nation's history, and 60,055,000 in June.

The 165,000 decline in the number of persons with jobs was accounted for by the midsummer low in farming activities in many areas. Farm employment dropped 593,000 to a total of 9,473,000.

Most of the decline in the number of agricultural workers was wiped out, however, by an increase of 428,000 in employment in other fields, sending total nonagricultural employment to 50,441,000 in August.

Almost all people have two blood pressures—a left and a right one—the right one being somewhat higher.

Resolution on Taft-Hartley Act

The National Committee of the American Slav Congress, at its meeting o Oct. 11-12th at the Hotel Pennsylvania strongly urges the repeal of the Taft-Hartley Law.

Our organization, representing hundreds of thousands of workers affected by the law, will not rest until this most vicious piece of legislatio ever passed in the history of our country, undermining the rights of American workers, is wiped off the statute books, and the members of both parties who voted for it are removed from office.

Dear Sir & Brother;

The Twin City Fedr. of Labor is interested in the latest and most authentic interpretation of the Taft-Hartley Law, or at least a brief synopsis of same. Could it be possible to obtain about thirty-five (35) copies of the Taft-Hartley Act and if possible an analysis of the pertinent clauses. Enough for one to each affiliated craft, or perhaps direct me as to where I could obtain them. However, of course you realize any interpretation other than which is absolute authentic would only tend to add to confusion which has been created by the enactment of such viciousness.

For instance the International Officers of different Unions "vary" considerable in their advice as to the signing of those Anti-Communists Affidavits. About one half say sign and the other half says no sign. I am sure you get the picture

Dear Sirs:

I have come into possession of your first bulletin explaining the meaning of the Taft-Hartley Act to your constituent unions. It is helpful to me as it will be to any person in this field. I would, therefore, appreciate your sending me any further bulletins on this subject, which have either been already issued or which you will issue in the future. As a matter of fact, if it is at all possible, would you put me on your mailing list so that I could receive your informative bulletins regularly.

Since there are other members of the staff who are also interested in the materials which you have prepared and expect to prepare in the future, it may be convenient if several copies of each of your releases were sent to me for distribution among the members of the staff. We are trying to keep our library on materials relevant to the Taft-Hartley Act as inclusive as possible.

Very truly yours,

Benjamin C. Roberts
